Allies inflict heavy toll on Viet Cong

SAIGON UPI — American and allied troops killed at least 428 Communists in a sudden eruption of ground fighting throughout South Vietnam, military spokesmen said today.

South Vietnamese paratroopers killed 245 North Vietnamese and captured 15 more, including three women soldiers, in the northern jungles in the biggest of eight battles fought Friday.

U.S. Army tanks crunched through a

Viet Cong ambush near Saigon and killed at least 90 more Communists. South Korean troops on the central coast killed 47 Viet Cong in a 45-minute jungle encounter.

The Koreans reported no casualties. The government troops said their losses were "light" and American commanders reported 27 U.S. soldiers killed in the fighting that went lopsidedly in the allies' favor. But the going was often bitter in smaller encounters.

On a tiny Viet Cong controlled island 90 miles south of Saigon, guerrilla guns shot down a U.S. Navy helicopter and killed one of the four crewmen. Under communist fire, a U. S. Army "Huey" helicopter whirled in and plucked the other three flying sailors, all injured, to safety.

Less than a mile below the North-South Vietnam border's Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) a platoon of Leathernecks underwent one of the most savage bombardments of the war, according to spokesmen.

The 45-man unit took 120 rounds of heavy Communist mortar fire and dug in and fought off attacking North Vietnamese until more Leathernecks poured in and the Communists ran.

Pouting pigeon

SHERBORNE, England UPI — It was just one of those days for Percy the racing pigeon.

First he flew into the jaws of the family terrier.

After he was rescued, he nosedived into a neighbor's washing machine. He was later returned to Leslie Richards, who is taking care of him while his owner is away.

Utility sale approved

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The Indiana Public Service Commission has approved the sale of water utilities in seven Hoosier Communities by the Indiana Gas & Water Co., a subsidiary of the Consolidated Water Corp.

The sale affected utilities in Crawfordsville, Franklin, Jeffersonville, Shelbyville and Clarksville.

Total purchase price was set at $12,552,000. The PSC also approved the method of financing the purchase price.

Hooded Indiana Klansmen plan Johnson, Morgan county journey

GREENWOOD, Ind. UPI — Hoosiers may get a chance to see the first group of robed Ku Klux Klansmen today since the heyday of the organization in Indiana in the 1920s in the reign of D. C. Stephenson.

A caravan of about 35 cars containing about 100 sheet-clad Klansmen was scheduled to travel through Johnson and Morgan Counties on a "quiet demonstration to show that the KKK is a truth, not a rumor," according to William M. Chaney, who calls himself the "imperial representative" of the KKK in Indiana.

Chaney, who lives here and sends and receives mail from a Greenwood post-office box, said the motorcade would travel U. S. 31 from Greenwood to Franklin, circle the Johnson County Courthouse, and travel through Bargersville and Waverly to Mooresville.

At Mooresville, the Klansmen will park their cars and walk through the business district, handing out literature to people on the street. Then they will drive to Martinsville for a similar literature distribution project.

"Violence is never part of our program," he said. "Klansmen have never burned draft cards, trampled flags or refused service in the war. All our programs are within the law. Any member of the Klan charged with a crime is automatically suspended until proven innocent or discharged if found guilty. We're not here to harass or intimidate anyone."

The country home of a Negro near Whiteland was the site of a cross burning early this week. But Chaney denied the Klan was involved and offered a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons responsible.

"We just don't approve of cross burning," Chaney said.

"It is part of our ritual, but not part of our program."

In the Indiana Klan days two generations ago, cross burnings were frequent. The organization had thousands of members in this state and Stephenson, who was grand dragon, proclaimed "I am the law in Indiana."

Local ladies will visit CWS center

The Church World Service Sewing Group is sponsoring a trip to Napanee on Wednesday, July 26, to visit the Church World Service Center there. Goods from churches in a wide area of the Midwest come to the Center, one of nine in the United States, to be sorted, packed, and sent on their way to mission stations overseas for distribution to refugees.

The ladies going on the trip will leave Greencastle about 8 a.m. and drive up with Rev. George Pyke of Fillmore Christian Church. They will visit the Center, have lunch in Napanee, and return by early evening. CWS workers and others who would like to go to see this phase of the churches' work in action are invited to call Mrs. G. E. Welliver, (OL 3-9694).

Tempest in teapot

WINNECONNE, Wis. UPI — This village nestled in the heart of Wisconsin's vacation land says it will secede from the state today because it was not included on new state maps.

The motto for citizens of the "Independent Sovereign State of Winneconne" is, "We like it where?" its state bird, flower, animal and fish are the dodo, skunk, poison ivy and sheephead.

Fire damage $25,000

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — A fire in a cottage at the Indiana Girl's School at nearby Clermont Friday caused an estimated $25,000 damage.

Authorities said 27 inmates and two staff members were in the two-story cottage when the fire broke out but all escaped without injury.

Firemen said the blaze began on the first floor of the three-wing brick building and burned through to the second floor.

Investigators from the state fire marshal's office were seeking the cause of the blaze.

Announce crash cause

NEW ORLEANS UPI — A Delta Airlines DC8 jetliner on March 30 crashed into a hotel, killing 19 persons, because its wing flaps were set for a landing and only two engines were operating, a federal inquiry board has concluded.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said the plane, side-slipping with its wing tipped at a 45-degree angle, was too much for the student pilot at the controls.

The student at the controls was Capt. James Morton, Covington, La. His flight instructor was Capt. Maurice E. Bud Watson, Boggsstown, Ind. both were killed.

Senator would reconsider McHugh appointment

WASHINGTON UPI — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., moved Friday to have the federal appointment of Simon McHugh, husband of one of President Johnson's former secretaries, returned to the Senate for reconsideration.

The selection and rapid confirmation of McHugh for the $28,000 a year job as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board came to light Thursday.

Williams submitted two motions—one asking that the nomination be returned, the other asking senate reconsideration.

McHugh, who married the former Victoria McCammon, a favorite Johnson secretary, was confirmed for the post on July 17 without debate. The confirmation came three days before a deadline listed in the congressional record for filing any objections to the appointment.

The 29-year-old McHugh, a native of Washington, D.C., is an accountant and worked with the Small Business Administration a short time before being tapped by his wife's ex-boss, Johnson, for promotion. Mrs. McHugh is from San Angelo, Tex.

The White House defended the appointment.

Utility corridor system is completed for electricity

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The Indiana Natural Resources Commission has climaxed months of planning how to confine electric transmission lines to specific areas by establishing a utility corridor system for four state parks and forests.

The corridors were reviewed by 50 Indiana utility firms before they were presented to the commission for its approval.

The corridors are located in Versailles State Park and in Morgan-Monroe, Martin and Harrison-Crawford State Forests.

The commission also approved long-pending requests to allow Hoosier Energy Division of the Indiana Rural Electric Cooperative to cross three of the four properties with lines from a new generating plant in Pike County.

It was the opposition of other utilities to the Hoosier Energy requests which led to establishment of the corridors.

Under the corridor system, utilities would petition for crossings within the specified areas and notifications of the requests would be sent to all utilities concerned for comment at least 21 days before being presented to the commission. Sixty days would be required between the time of presentation and the time of consideration.

In other action, the commission extended a quarantine against cereal leaf beetles to include all or portions of 15 counties. The action was taken after the Division of Entomology reported the beetles are spreading into those areas.

Filipino revolt

MANILA UPI — A Philippine congressman introduced a bill to ban miniskirts and padding for the female bosom.

Rep. Luis Hora said the items are "suggestive" and "much to blame for the sex crime wave."

Oral cancer took almost 7,000 lives last year

Oral Cancer, cancer of the mouth and associated areas, took the lives of almost 7,000 men and women in the United States in 1966.

This number may not seem large in terms of the millions of adults in this country. But it is large, because so many of those deaths could have been avoided, and in many cases with no great inconvenience to the person involved.

Today only thirty-six per cent of those who develop oral cancer survive for five years or more after treatment. The survival rate could be improved by vigilance on the part of the individual, the physician and the dentist.

According to medical information secured by the Putnam County Unit of the American Cancer society, oral cancer is one of the most accessible for early detection and successful treatment of all cancerous growths. Because of this fact oral cancer control has been made an especially significant part of the American Cancer Society's five-year minimum achievement program to save more lives from cancer.

This action program, now in its second year, seeks to involve at least fifty per cent of all dentists and physicians in a program to make cancer detection a part of every checkup examination. At the same time it is hoped to persuade the public to exercise greater personal vigilance.

The fifty-per-cent-involvement goal is only half what the ideal calls for, but the American Cancer Society believes it is an achievable goal.

The Society knows from experience how difficult it is to motivate people to act, even if they know such action would be in their interest. If more people can be made personally vigilant, the number of deaths from oral cancer would be drastically reduced.

The oral region, the tongue and the lining of the throat are highly sensitive. Instances of unusual sensation, pain, swelling or other abnormalities such as bleeding, sores and white spots should be acted upon without delay. These are warnings that a person can recognize and about which he can do something at once.

In the case of oral cancer, the dentist can be a real source of protection. The regular dental examination focuses on the mouth and abnormalities may come quickly to the dentist's attention.

This is why the American Cancer Society of Putnam County puts great emphasis on the significant role of the dentist in the detection of cancer. This is one instance in which the dental and the medical profession can combine the weaponry of modern cancer detection in the fight against this disease.

State mental institution employees have grievance

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Representatives of union employees at 11 state mental institutions will seek a meeting with Governor Branigin to ask for reversal of what they consider "backward steps" in treatment of personnel.

The meeting was authorized Thursday at a session of the mental health policy committee of Indiana Council 62 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees AFL-CIO.

The council also pledged its support to Local 803 at Central State Hospital here in connection with a demonstration planned to protest the closing of an employee cafeteria.

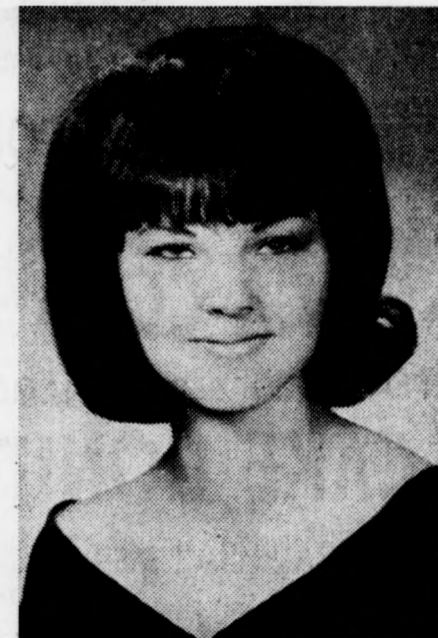

Council members authorized union officials to seek correction of "inequalities" under a new pay plan for clerks, secretaries and comparable classifications and to eliminate a policy of "penalizing" employees for promotions by denying them longevity adjustments.

Council Director Joseph Bolt and a committee were instructed to meet with Branigin to protest State Personnel Board rules and to seek to bring employee benefits more in line with those in private industry.

Virgil Young, Madison, chairman of the policy committee, said the group also voted to ask Branigin and the State Retirement Board to postpone transferring excess interest above 3 per cent on employee contributions to the retirement fund until the legislature decides whether it is proper to put the funds into employer accounts.

Regarding the Central State Hospital demonstration, the committee said it was the only one of 25 state institutions to close its cafeteria.

Chinese Reds reaffirm stand

HONG KONG UPI — Communist China today reaffirmed its readiness to fight with North Vietnam against the United States but made clear the time had not come for its direct entry into the war.

Peking said it would remain "the resolute backup" and "rear area of North Vietnam." The reaffirmation of Red China's Vietnam policy came in an editorial in the Peking Peoples Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist Party.

The editorial was also published in the Liberation Army Daily, official voice of the Red Chinese army, and broadcast in full by Peking Radio.

It marked the first anniversary of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's pledge of Hanoi's determination to wage war for 20 years "or even longer" if necessary to drive the U.S. out of Vietnam.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE MESS SERGEANT was just about fed up with all the complaints registered about the bread he was serving his outfit. "What are you birds squawking about?" he demanded. "If Washington had had that bread at Valley Forge he'd have given thanks to the Lord for it." "That's entirely possible," agreed one perky young private. "It was fresh then."

Charles Rice tells about an embarrassing moment in the career of a magician named Blackstone, a headliner in Keith vaudeville not so many years ago. Blackstone, on the day in question, was doing his stuff at a playhouse in the heart of Chicago's theatrical district. For the climax of his act, he fired three revolver shots, whereupon an accomplice in handcuffs escaped from a locked trunk in mid-stage and made for the wings. While Blackstone exhibited the empty trunk to the befuddled audience, the accomplice was trained to race down the aisle, jangling his manacles, and shouting, "Here I am, Maestro! Here I am!"

This particular day, however, the accomplice went AWOL, and Blackstone had to break in a substitute at the last minute. "When you get off the stage," instructed Blackstone, "run like mad around to the front of the theatre and gallop down the aisle yelling 'Here I am' at the top of your lungs. Now that's not much to ask, is it?"

The substitute agreed it wasn't—particularly with a ten-dollar bonus held out to him. He followed instructions to the letter, his "Here I am" ringing loud and clear. Unfortunately, he had made one slight error, however. He'd taken a wrong turn at the end of the stage-door alley, and ran into the Harris Theatre next door by mistake. His "Here I am" didn't help the second act climax of Ibsen's "Ghosts" one bit. In fact, he lost his job.

When I take my portable radio to the pool, I put it inside a clear plastic bag to keep the sand or water from damaging it.

The bag is large enough so that I can change stations without removing the radio. Sure protects my radio and doesn't interfere with the sound at all.

Dear Heloise:

Please tell your readers to save all of those empty nail polish bottles. They are invaluable for hobby work where glazing or painting is done and for entertaining children.

You can mix up small amounts of the desired color of paint, put it in these and you will have your tiny brush right at hand . . . small enough for models of all kinds.

When the children are looking for something different, give them coloring books or old catalogues and a nail polish bottle filled with water color paint. Watch them spend many busy hours with this wonderful idea. Nail polish remover can be used to remove the polish from the brush and inside of the old bottle.

Dear Folks:

When camping did you know that if you hang your lantern on a small tree limb and then wrap a piece of foil around the trunk of the tree where the lantern hangs, it not only will protect the tree but also reflect the light?

Always be sure to look for a nail or hanger that a previous camper has used before driving a nail of your own so you won't damage the trees.

Dear Heloise:

Having no heavy cream on hand for a cream pie recently, I tried an experiment that worked.

I chilled a half cup of evaporated milk in a freezer tray until crystals formed on the top (about 10 minutes). I also chilled my beaters and bowl and added a few squirts of lemon juice . . .

The evaporated milk whipped up as light and fluffy as cream. The pie was just as tasty and for an extra bonus, this cut down on the calories and the cost.

After four desperate attempts at trying to locate a product to touch up the scratches and nicks on my silver shoes, I bought a silver, paste-like product intended for eyelid glamor.

By rubbing this on the shoes and smoothing it away from the scarred areas, I was able to render real first-aid to my shoes. It covered the bad places quite effectively.

Dear Heloise:

The men in my family like the permanent press pants, but I found they soon wore thin in the seat at the lower end of the pocket where their billfold is carried.

Now when they get new pants, I iron a large piece of shaped iron-on tape on the pocket lining next to the seat of the pants. This tape acts as a cushion for the corners of the billfold. It takes the buffing instead of the material and their pants wear much longer.

Dear Heloise:

Mothers of tiny tots know how difficult it is to keep their little garments (diaper sets and wee skirts) on those odd-shaped baby hangers.

I've discovered that the little plastic clips that come from packages of buns and bags of apples, etc., are just the thing. I attach one to each side of the item I wish to hang after placing it on the hanger. Works like a million.

Sox takes 7th. straight; Tigers Mire losing streak

To meet or not to meet seems to be the question of the moment in the American League. The correct phrase depends on whether you like the fortunes of the Boston Red Sox or the Detroit Tigers.

Last year the Boston players called meetings and excluded their manager, Billy Herman. But Dick Williams replaced Herman and he made it clear the team would not conduct any meetings without him present this year.

It may or may not be just a coincidence that the Red Sox have made a remarkable comeback this year and jumped into second place Friday night with their seventh straight victory, a 6-2 triumph over Cleveland.

Meanwhile, the Tigers just happened to be in Boston Monday night mired in a long losing streak—and veterans Al Kaline and Hank Aguirre decided to call a meeting that excluded Tiger manager Mayo Smith.

Smith let the Tigers meet without him—and the Tigers promptly lost their seventh straight game. But Detroit has won three of four games since then, including Friday night's 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees that kept Detroit three games off the pace although the club is still fifth in the tightest American League race in recent memory.

"We wanted to give everyone a chance to get things that were bothering them off their chest," Kaline said in explaining the reason for the meeting. "We wanted to talk about how we could win more games, it was a real old fashioned bull session."

The question of whether or not a manager should let a team hold a meeting without him is one of the more debated ones in baseball these days. Harry Walker let the Pittsburgh Pirates conduct meetings without him earlier this season—and it's also a fact that Danny Murtaugh is now the team's manager.

In other American League action, Washington continued its surge by jumping into sixth place with a 4-3 and 3-1 sweep of Baltimore, Chicago edged Kansas City 5-4 and California snipped Minnesota 2-1.

In the National League, Chicago nipped San Francisco 5-4 in 12 innings, Los Angeles blanked New York 3-0, Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 5-3, Pittsburgh crushed Houston 9-1 and Atlanta edged St. Louis 4-1.

Joe Foy's three-run homer in the third inning paced the Red Sox to their triumph. Darrell Brandon won the game with an eighth-inning while Luis Tiant started for Cleveland and lost it.

A three-run third inning that featured one of Willie Horton's three singles was enough for Detroit to beat New York. Dennis McLain won the game with relief help from Mike Marshall while Steve Barber lost it.

Cap Peterson's two-out double in the eighth inning drove in three runs and gave Washington the sweep over Baltimore. In the first game, Fred Valentine singled in the first three runs and Eddie Fisher then wild pitched home what proved to be the winning run, giving Washington a 4-1 lead.

Wayne Causey drove in two runs, including the tie-breaking one in the fifth inning, to pace Chicago past Kansas City. Bob Locker relieved Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth and choked off a late A's rally to preserve the victory for Wilbur Wood.

George Brunet, with help from Minnie Rojas, who got the final out, led California past Minnesota. Brunet had a shut-out until Harmon Killebrew touched him for his 28th homer in the ninth. Dave Boswell lost the game.

Aaron takes lead in 49th PGA tourney

DENVER UPI — Tommy Aaron, who has seen many golden chances pass him by, hopes he has at last found the key to victory.

A professional golfer for nearly seven years, much of that time as a regular member of the tour, Aaron has never won a major tournament.

But, a scorching seven-under-par 81-84-85 Friday gave the bespectacled Georgian his best chance in many moons with a four-shot lead going into the third round of the 49th PGA championship.

Aaron's 85, matching the PGA second-round record set in 1959 by Jerry Barber, pushed him nine-under-par for 36 holes with 135 over the 7,400-yard, par 36-36-72 Columbine course which proved surprisingly unfriendly to Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer and a host of others.

Trailing Aaron by four strokes were first round leader Dave Hill, scrambling to a one-over-par 73 for a 36-hole total of five-under-par 139, and heat-smitten Dan Sikes and unheralded Don Bies, each of whom shot a 70.

Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite, faded badly to 75 Friday and was two-under-par 142, one stroke back of arch-rival Palmer, who struggled home with a 71 on the strength of back-to-back birdies on the 12th and 13th.

Dandy Doug Sanders, dressed in a lavender shirt with shoes to match, sank the fourth hole-in-one ever shot in PGA championship competition, aceing the 194-yard 16th with a four-iron. He wound up with a one-under-par 71 and a two-round total of 143, along with six others.

It took a score of 151 or better to survive the cut. Among those who failed to make it were former champions Doug Ford, Jerry Barber, Walt Burkemo and Jay Hebert plus Johnny Pott, Bob Rosburg and Al Bessellink. It was the second highest cut on the tour this year and left a total of 76 pros in the running for a share in the $150,000 prize money.

The final two rounds will be nationally televised by ABC.

Buckpasser is 2-5 favorite

NEW YORK UPI — Buckpasser went to the post at Aqueduct today a 2-5 choice to win the 79th running of the $100,000 added Brooklyn Handicap and complete the New York Racing Association's Handicap Triple Crown.

A field of seven horses was entered against Ogden Phipps' four-year-old millionaire but there was a strong possibility only four would face the third biggest money winner of all time.

Poker and Moontrip were the likely scratches. Poker, also owned by Phipps, was entered as a precaution and Moontrip if the track came up muddy.

"If Buckpasser is as good today as he was in his Tuesday workout," said trainer Eddie Neloy, "Poker will be scratched." Buckpasser worked a spectacular 1:35 3-5 mile Tuesday.

Top weighted at 136 pounds, Buckpasser gave away 24 pounds to George D. Widener's Ring Twice, second choice in the morning line at 4-1. The others in the field were Hobeau Farm's Handsome Boy, 116; Mrs. Peter Duchin's Mr. Right 113 and Yonder, 107 pounds.

The heaviest player in the National Professional Soccer League probably is too light to play linebacker on any pro football team. Freddy Bravenhoer of the Pittsburgh Panthers at 6-2, 215 pounds is the heaviest player in the NFL. Warren Archibald of the New York Generals is the lightest at 136 pounds.

TV in Review

By Rick du Brow
HOLLYWOOD UPI—The inevitable trend toward more overseas filming of American television series—reminiscent of the path followed in past years by the movie industry—is becoming more pronounced.

And the growing internationalization of video prime time, even though it is not yet overwhelming, is bound to cause discomfort among the Hollywood-based unions and their workers who depend heavily on local production.

The number of jobs parceled out here—despite the relatively healthy state of Hollywood television—has certainly been affected by various developments in recent years.

For example the fact that the three networks now offer a total of six prime time movies each week means that 12 key entertainment hours are no longer completely filled by new film product. It is true that we have had, and will have, new two-hour original movies—as well as some special plays—but the old motion pictures still make up the bulk of those 12 weekly hours.

Furthermore, another new one-hour ABC-TV series this fall, "Off to See the Wizard," is really mainly a collection of films for children. And NBC-TV's weekly one-hour Walt Disney program often presents reruns of movies turned out by the late cartoonist's studio.

In addition, series like "The Avengers," "Secret Agent" and "The Saint," as well as variety shows like "Piccadilly Palace" and "Spotlight," have been produced in England.

It is hard to imagine that a cornball series like "The Beverly Hillbillies" would venture overseas in any way. Yet CBS-TV recently announced that special location footage, to be included in from two to four episodes of the program in the coming season, was to be filmed in London this week.

Last season, Hollywood unions were displeased by the fact that "The Rat Patrol" was filmed, at first, in Spain. But "I Spy" also has overseas locations. ABC-TV's new "Cowboy in Africa" series is to do filming on the dark continent. "Tarzan," although not overseas, shoots in Mexico and "Maya," a new NBC-TV series this fall, is being done in India.

It is all really a very logical development, of course, not only are satellites and the daily course of human events making the public more international-minded, but the television industry—like the movie industry before it—must seek new means to keep viewers interested. And of course it is happy to seek these means in locations where it hopes production costs are cheaper.

The home audience has been saturated with the usual television entertainment. The novelty of color video will soon wear off now that virtually everything in prime time is in color. Films from abroad, especially television movies, have made the public aware of other dimensions in entertainment. And the time seems ripe in general for video executives to internationalize their wares more and more. It is late, of course, but television entertainment almost always is—in relation to other media. One assumes that by the time video goes international in a big way, moviemakers will be shooting films on the moon.

Jackie Kennedy, family back at Cape Cod

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. UPI—Jacqueline Kennedy and her two children, their five-week Ireland vacation over, settled down today for another several weeks of leisure at the family compound on Cape Cod.

Flashing her trademark smile as she stepped from a jet plane from Ireland Thursday at Logan International Airport, the widow of President John F. Kennedy said, "I had a wonderful time. The weather man was a lot better there."

Then she walked over a green carpet with her children, entered a car and drove to the Kennedy compound overlooking Nantucket Sound. The Kennedys did not go through customs.

Mrs. Kennedy, wearing a powder blue coat, smiled at newsmen but declined when asked to make a few comments about their stay in County Waterford, Ireland. John Jr., 6, dressed in shorts, shirt and tie, was given a model of the plane by the airline.

Mrs. Kennedy, who will be on hand for the christening of the newest Kennedy, Patrick Joseph, born last week to Sen. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy, was expected to stay here several weeks before visiting her mother in Newport, R. I.

Mobutu issues call

KINSHASA, The Congo UPI—President Joseph Mobutu today urged retreating mercenaries and rebels to put a white sheet marker on an airport runway if they agree to release hostages they may be holding.

He said that if they refuse to set hostages free, they should put out a black sheet marker.

The 180 mercenaries and about 500 gendarme rebels from Katanga province were somewhere in the jungle retreating from Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, where they rebelled on July 5.

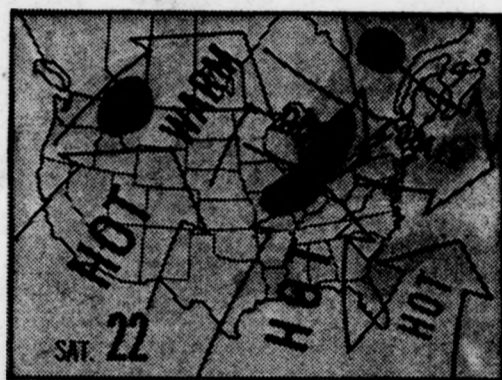

They are believed to be in the vicinity of the Punia Airstrip. Mobutu said that a C46 transport plane would fly over the airstrip to spot the marker and report what the rebels answer was to Mobutu's appeal.

A group of 16 Belgian air force technicians taken hostage before the mercenaries withdrew from Kisangani last week were released and arrived in Angola several days ago. But it was feared the mercenaries may have taken additional hostages from Kisangani, and may have seized additional ones in the Punia area as they headed south.

Meanwhile, three Congolese ministers began an investigation in Kisangani to determine the cause and results of the rebellion.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI — W. E. Hutton & Co. says it expects the Dow Jones industrial average to run into "heavy resistance" at the 915 level and doubts that even the current market momentum can achieve a "successful breakthrough" this summer. The investment firm says it has turned "less aggressive" regarding trading recommendations.

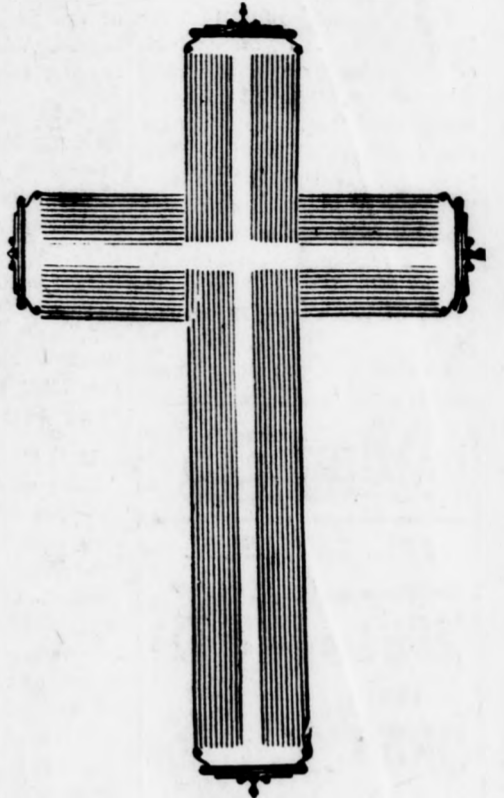

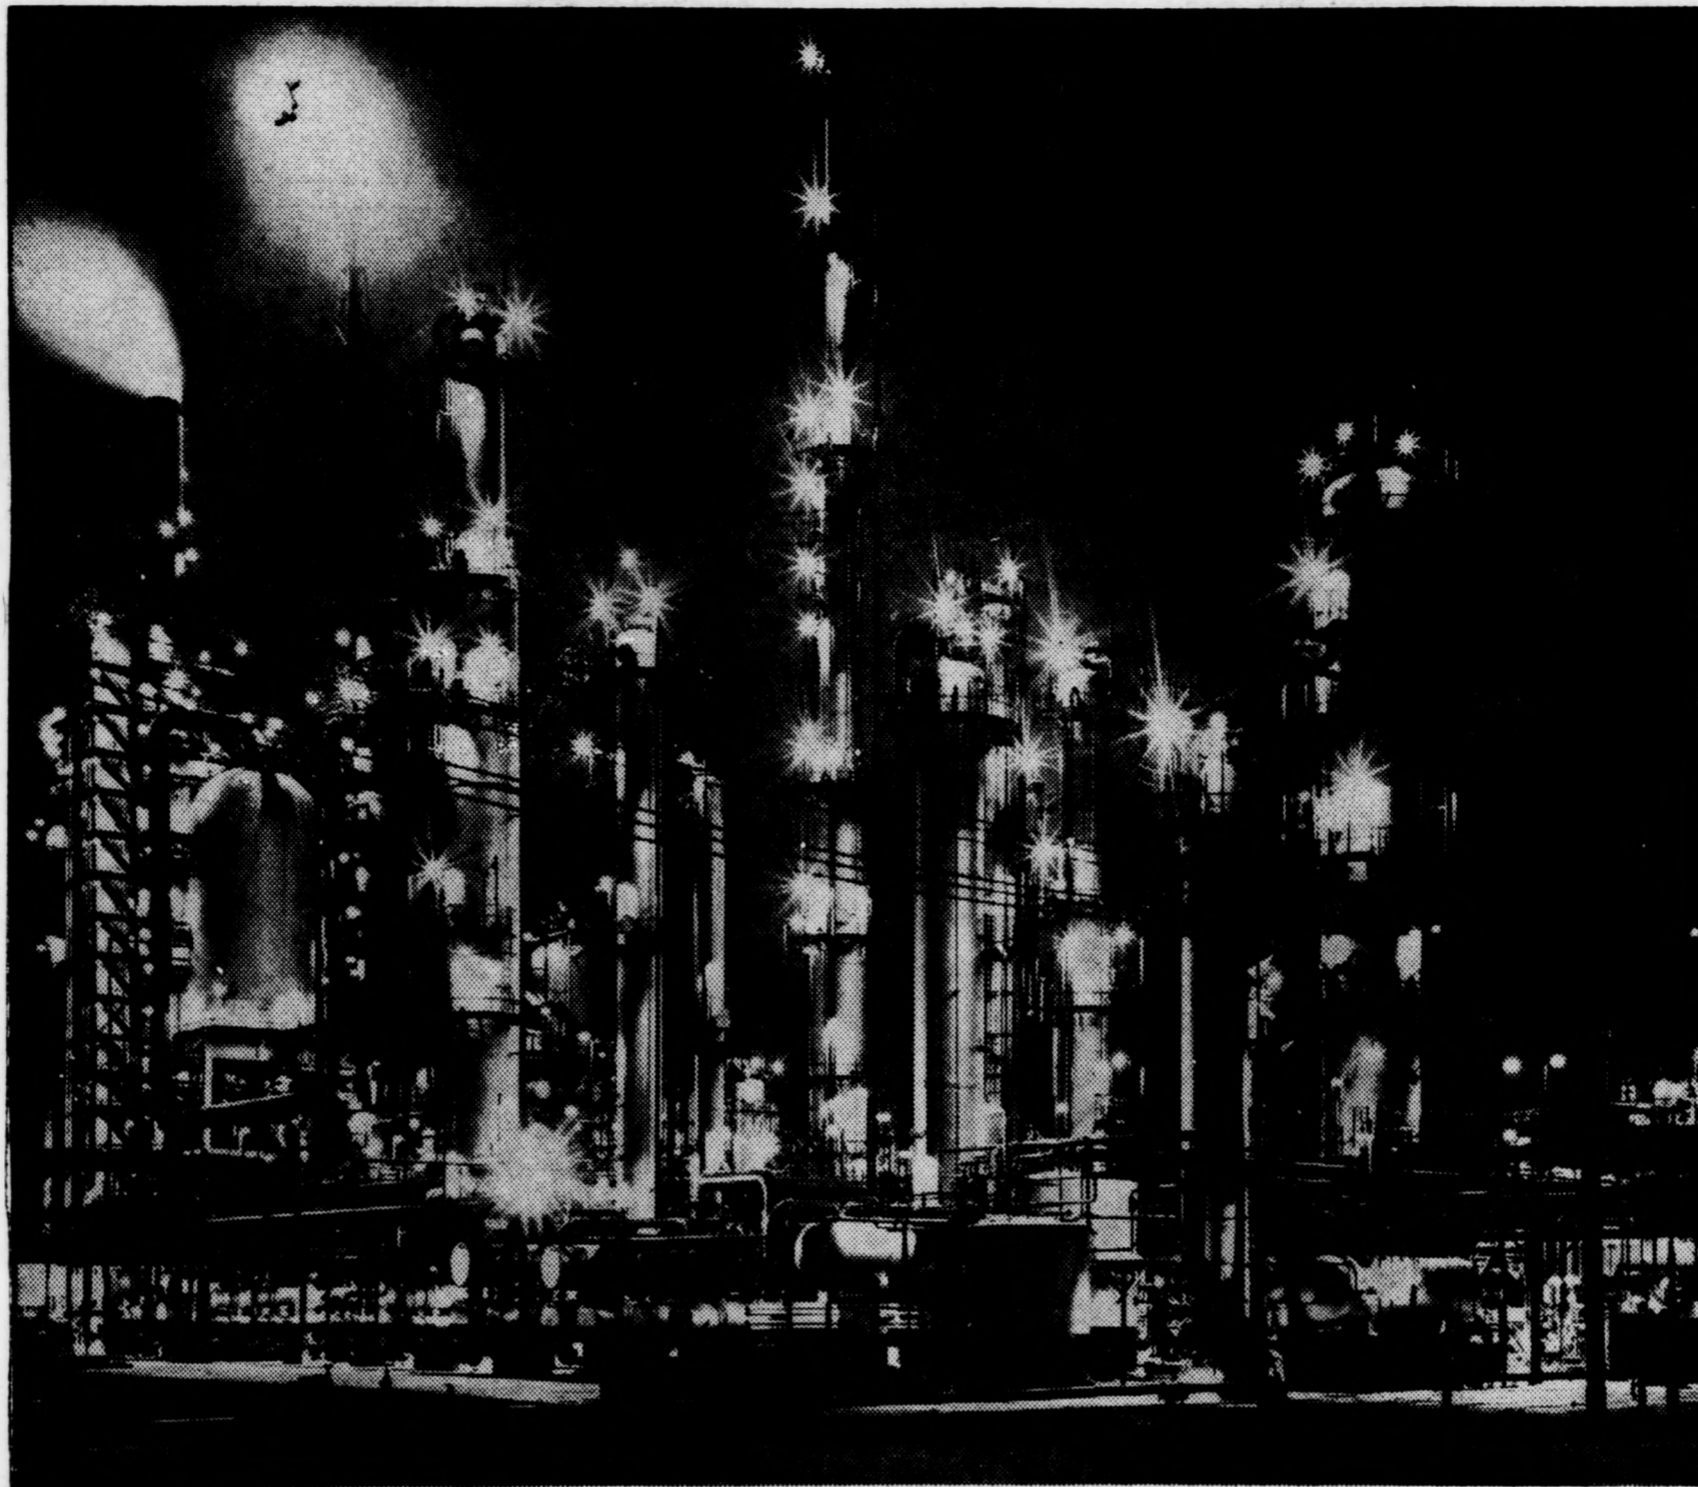

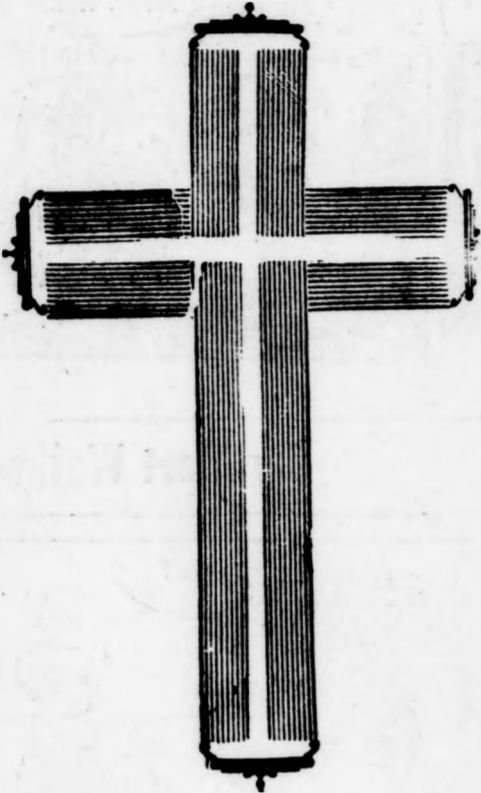

Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis says recent market strength probably reflected anticipation of a business upturn in the last half of the year. The analyst, however, says that while investors probably have discounted disappointing 1967 corporate profits, they might not have discounted a tax hike of more than six per cent, a prolonged auto strike and escalation of the Vietnam war.

Bache & Co. Inc. observes that the country's "real" economic growth, based on an analysis of the gross national product figures, was better than anticipated and strengthens the prospects of an accelerating October-December economy.

The company says this growth has helped fuel the move into the cyclical blue chip stocks and should be the major impetus for further market improvement.

God is light and in Him is no darkness.

LIGHT

GOD said, "Let there be light: and there was light."

How much is shining on you? Are you just sitting there—oblivious to the needs of your fellow-man—and inactive in your church?

Then a cloud is hiding you! Want to be a reflector?

Then get out in the open—out where the light can beam upon you.

Absorb aplenty of it...enough to purify and light up the dark corners of your soul. Lead your family and others to church. That is being a reflector of real light...true light.

For, "God is light and in Him is no darkness." 1 John 1-5.

This message is dedicated to the building of a more spiritual and a greater church going community under the auspices of the Greencastle Ministerial Association and is being sponsored by the following individuals and business firms who want, as their only return, to see more people attending church. The church needs your support. The community needs the church.
